Financial Strength Highlights

The core financial strength of Ameritas Mutual Holding Company (Ameritas) comes from its insurance companies. These include Ameritas Life Insurance Corp. (Ameritas Life) and Ameritas Life Insurance Corp. of New York (Ameritas Life of New York).

Delivering on our promises

As a mutual-based organization, we always put customers first. Our long-standing strength continues to support a tradition of striving to deliver the very best products and services, generation after generation. Though we're proud of our ratings¹ from Standard & Poor's and AM Best, we measure our success by how many people we've helped and how many promises we've kept.

Capital and surplus/assets ratio

The capital and surplus/assets ratio measures the cushion a company has against a decline in the value of its assets before its surplus is depleted. Higher levels of capital and surplus relative to assets help support a company's operations and growth. The statutory surplus levels of Ameritas Life and Ameritas Life of New York are above Standard & Poor's capital requirements at the 'AAA' rating level.² This represents extremely strong capital which, along with low levels of financial leverage, provides adequate financial flexibility to address unforeseen market conditions.

Ameritas Life and Ameritas Life of New York had approximately $1.9 billion of statutory basis total adjusted capital at June 30, 2020.³ They ended the period with a capital and surplus/assets ratio of 11.4%, which was 25.4% higher than the life industry average capital and surplus/assets ratio of 9.1%.⁴

Standard & Poor's

A+ (Strong) for insurer financial strength.
This is the fifth highest of Standard & Poor's 21 ratings assigned.

AM Best

A (Excellent) for insurer financial strength.
This is the third highest of AM Best's 13 ratings assigned.

Low debt-to-capital ratio

The debt-to-capital ratio is a way to measure the debt component of a company's capital structure. It is often used to confirm the soundness of long-term financial policies, and is calculated by dividing a company's total debt by its total capital. The resulting ratio indicates what portions of equity and debt a company is using to finance its business.

Ameritas has $63.6 million of outstanding debt,⁵ which represents 3.7% of capital and surplus, significantly below the industry average of 13.2% as of June 30, 2020.⁴ This

Debt-to-capital ratio is a very low 3.7% demonstrates a strong equity position. A high debt-to-capital ratio means a company uses more aggressive financing that includes debt. This can result in more volatile earnings and less financial stability.

High-quality assets

As of June 30, 2020, Ameritas insurance companies' general account⁶ invested assets base was $14.7 billion. This represented approximately 96.5% of the general account admitted assets. Bonds represent 69.9% of the company's invested assets. Of those bonds, 94.2% are rated strong investment grade, versus the industry average of approximately 94.0%. High yield bonds make up the other 5.8% of the company's bonds, compared to the industry average at 6.0%.⁷ This reflects our focus on maintaining a high quality investment portfolio.

Commercial mortgage loans are the second largest asset class within the invested assets portfolio, representing 15.1% of invested assets. Ameritas insurance companies have a solid liquidity profile with access to multiple avenues of funding, if needed.
